Relative Visit and Athlete Assignment

The guest's visit does not rewrite the coach's task.

Known family words deserve a response; guessed judgments should stay labeled as guesses.

Hypothetical example: a parent confirms a relative's viewing place and leaves the child's assigned waiting routine unchanged instead of adding an impress-the-guest goal.

01 Ask what being watched seems to mean

Hear the child's specific concern about the visitor.

Expectation the child describes

Words actually heard from the relative

Judgment still guessed

02 Clarify the relative's actual role

Clarify the relative's actual role and words.

Reason for visit actually confirmed

Program spectator arrangement

Adult demand requiring a response

Relative Visit and Athlete Assignment / Review & follow-through

03 Return to one current assignment

Name the current coach-assigned task.

Current coach instruction

Practical question for the coach

Extra spectator goal to leave out

04 Keep the afterward conversation ordinary

Agree on an ordinary afterward conversation.

Child's preferred ordinary conversation

Concern the adult must address directly

Family comparison to avoid