Overnight Invitation Decision Page

An invitation starts a conversation; it does not complete permission.

Overnight permission requires an actual adult arrangement, not a promise inferred from excitement.

Hypothetical example: A family chooses an evening visit with agreed collection after discussing the invitation and the child's preference.

01 Do not let the invitation make the decision

Clarify the invitation and whether the child wants the overnight part.

Actual invitation and date

Child's overnight preference

Permission not yet decided

02 Speak adult to adult about the real home

Discuss the actual arrangements and relevant safety questions with the responsible adult.

Supervising adult confirmation

Relevant questions and answers

Unresolved condition or concern

03 Make contact and a return possible

Confirm a reachable contact and a real collection arrangement before approval.

Actual adult contact route

Confirmed collection arrangement

Child's words for requesting help

04 Give a clear answer without judging every family

Communicate the decision and reconsider it if important arrangements change.
