Performance Invitation Record

A welcome can include a choice.

An optional demonstration needs a usable option to decline.

Hypothetical example: A child declines an unplanned keyboard performance; the parent corrects an earlier offer and returns to the family meal.

01 Notice when an invitation becomes a demand

Describe the exact performance request and any prior agreement.

Requested hobby demonstration

Existing performance agreement, if any

What makes this invitation optional

02 Ask where a refusal can be heard

Record the child's actual choice without guessing the reason.

Child's answer in their words

Smaller sharing option they actually want

Limit to explain before returning

Performance Invitation Record / Review & follow-through

03 Carry the adult conversation yourself

Prepare the adult explanation and an ordinary alternative.

Adult sentence to the visitors

Adult offer that needs correction

Available activity after the answer

04 Review the invitation rather than grade the child

Review whether the agreed limit was kept.

What the parent actually said

Whether further pressure occurred
