Copied Sibling Label Repair

Correct the adult words as well as the copied insult.

Describe the actual responsibility without assigning a child a permanent label.

Hypothetical example: a parent retracts calling one child lazy, explains that books were left on a shared table, gives the responsible child the cleanup instruction, and helps the sibling state the space they need.

01 Words to correct

Name both the copy and its source.

Label the child repeated

Adult's earlier wording

Person described and audience

02 Actual responsibility

Check what happened before describing it again.

Observed action or unfinished job

Instruction actually given

Next step owed by the responsible child

Copied Sibling Label Repair / Review & follow-through

03 Adult repair

Carry the correction to the people who heard you.

Acknowledgment to the labeled child

Audience needing corrected wording

Adult action still unfinished

04 Different words

Choose a useful sentence for the next ordinary problem.

Sibling's specific request

Adult wording for the task reminder

Next situation to review