Read This Event's Age Rule Before Confirming the Division - working notes

One situation. Clear facts. An honest next step.

Use the current official rule for the exact event and division, confirm how it determines age and resolve uncertainty with the organizer. Do not substitute the child's present age, a teammate's entry or another sport's cutoff.

Hypothetical example: A birthday occurs before the event's stated determination date. The coach checks the event rule and leaves an unresolved exception question with the organizer rather than guessing a division.

01 Separate the division label from the rule behind it

Identify the exact event, division and current eligibility rule.

Exact event and division

Official current rule location

Other eligibility condition to check

02 Find the exact event and effective year

Read the effective year and actual age-determination method.

Effective year

Stated age-determination method

Conflicting document question

Read This Event's Age Rule Before Confirming the Division - working notes / Review & follow-through

03 Use the proper private route for the child's information

Use the approved private verification route and ask the organizer about uncertainty.

Approved private verification route

Organizer question

Authorized response reference

04 Tell the family what is verified and what is pending

Communicate confirmed information and outstanding registration requirements.

Confirmed or pending status

Remaining registration requirement

Next event or season recheck