The Faith-and-Wealth Claim Review

Check the promise before treating gain as godliness.

Christian teaching should be examined in Scripture; financial results are not a measure of another person's faith.

Example: a hypothetical resource offer promises wealth to every buyer. The family records the claim, pauses the purchase, reads 1 Timothy 6 and asks about the actual cited passage.

01 Identify the message

Represent the claim without exaggerating it.

Source and statement to examine

Financial outcome promised

Action requested by the message

Bible reference actually supplied

02 Read the passage

Use the surrounding argument.

Verses and context read

What the text teaches

Universal promise actually present or absent

Interpretation still needing help

The Faith-and-Wealth Claim Review / Review & follow-through

03 Compare claim and support

Do not invent the speaker's private motive.

Added inference or guarantee

Supported conclusion so far

Real household need to address

Trusted teacher to consult

04 Choose a responsible response

Keep money decisions with adults.

Purchase or action paused

Adult decision and reason

Correction to an earlier assumption

Follow-up answer and source