Read Paul's Resurrection-Body Question Before Drawing the Picture - working notes

One situation. Clear facts. An honest next step.

Read 1 Corinthians 15:35-58 for the question about the resurrection body, the comparisons used to answer it and the closing thanks and labor instruction. Do not make the seed image an anatomy diagram.

Hypothetical example: A child draws grain and a plant; the adult identifies the contrast being illustrated and leaves unanswered bodily details as questions for careful teaching.

01 Begin with the question the passage answers

Read the actual body question in 1 Corinthians 15:35-58.

Questions asked

Selected reading range

Word to explain

02 Let the seed comparison show difference without inventing machinery

Trace the seed and varied-body comparisons.

What is sown

Body given by God

Illustration's unanswered detail

Read Paul's Resurrection-Body Question Before Drawing the Picture - working notes / Review & follow-through

03 Read the contrasts and the change through to thanksgiving

Record the named contrasts and thanks through Christ.

Sown-and-raised contrasts

Adam-and-Christ contrast

Thanks directed toward

04 Keep the final work instruction connected to the hope

Read the final work instruction and label the limits of your illustration.

Closing work instruction

Illustration to label

Question for church teaching