Jonah Plant and Compassion Reflection

Let the final question reach the adult.

Concern for comfort deserves examination beside concern for people.

Hypothetical example: A parent notices a complaint about a changed leisure plan, listens to a real household need and keeps the text's unreported ending unfilled.

01 Read what comes before the anger

Read the end of Jonah 3 with Jonah 4 and note the sequence.

Event immediately before Jonah's anger

What Jonah says about God

Question about the sequence

02 Follow the plant and the final question

Trace the plant contrast and final question.

What happens to the plant

Who is named in God's final question

Ending detail the text does not report

Jonah Plant and Compassion Reflection / Review & follow-through

03 Examine the adult's selective concern

Examine one adult choice about convenience and care.

Ordinary inconvenience occupying the adult

Actual need the adult should hear

Responsible person to ask about useful help

04 Leave an honest response to the question

Record a suitable response without inventing another person's feelings.

Appropriate action agreed

What was actually completed

Honest response to the passage's question
