Read Joshua 4 So the Memorial Still Has a Story to Tell - working notes

One situation. Clear facts. An honest next step.

Read Joshua 4 with its anticipated child's question and stated answer. Explain the stones through the crossing they commemorate rather than treating an object itself as a source of protection.

Hypothetical example: A family keeps a church program with the actual date, reading and reason for thanks, leaving unknown details to be checked.

01 Notice the question built into the memorial

Find the child's question in Joshua 4.

Question in Joshua 4

Stones described

Reading question

02 Keep the crossing and the Lord in the answer

Read the chapter's actual answer and stated purpose.

Event remembered

Work attributed to the Lord

Purpose stated

Read Joshua 4 So the Memorial Still Has a Story to Tell - working notes / Review & follow-through

03 Attach truthful words to a family remembrance

Choose one suitable family remembrance and record its facts.

Family object

Verified event and date

Permission needed

04 Leave a question someone can really ask

Check that a future explanation separates the chapter from the family object.

Words to keep with it

Unknown detail

Question to welcome