Two Builders Hearing and Doing Review

The picture points back to Jesus' words.

Hearing and doing belong together; the storm is not removed from the image.

Hypothetical example: A parent reads both houses, notices the storm in each account and examines one truthful-speech commitment without labeling a child's faith.

01 Ask what the houses are explaining

Identify whose sayings the illustration concerns.

Saying before the builders

Who speaks with authority

Meaning the family should not replace

02 Read what happens to both houses

Compare both storms and the difference Jesus names.

What both houses encounter

Difference Jesus identifies

Outcome claim the text does not promise

03 Choose a saying before assigning an action

Select a specific teaching and an adult response.

Teaching already being studied

Adult action connected to it

Household preference to keep separate

04 Return to the authority behind the illustration

Review the response while keeping theological questions honest.

What the adult actually did
