Known by God and Honest Adult Listening Page

God's knowledge does not make a parent all-knowing.

A Christian parent should distinguish an observed fact from a guess about a child's thoughts.

Hypothetical example: a parent reads Psalm 139 and replaces an assumed motive with a question, leaving the child free to choose one concern for prayer.

01 The selected reading

Keep the speaker and addressee clear.

Ordinary action named

Statement about God

Verse to read again

02 The actual question

Hear the child's question before explaining.

Child's own words

What the passage says

Explanation limit to keep clear

Known by God and Honest Adult Listening Page / Review & follow-through

03 Adult listening

Separate facts from guessed thoughts.

Action you observed

Motive you only guessed

Honest replacement question

04 Prayer and follow-up

Do not turn the notes into an interrogation.

Concern willingly shared

Unresolved point

Appropriate next conversation