Microwave Meal Standing-Time Handoff

The beep marks a step, not the whole meal.

Finish the labeled sequence before reporting readiness.

Hypothetical example: an adult schedules the printed standing interval, tells the serving adult it is still running, then records the required check before plates are filled.

01 Read past the heating minutes

Identify the exact meal and full preparation sequence.

Product and package version

Appliance and portion basis

Full instruction location

02 Let the standing instruction do its work

Copy the product-specific standing directions and unresolved questions.

Exact standing direction

Cover or handling instruction

Missing information and source to consult

Microwave Meal Standing-Time Handoff / Review & follow-through

03 Make the wait visible to the serving adult

Assign and communicate the standing interval.

Adult accepting the interval

Start and completion record

Serving adult given current status

04 Report what was completed

Record the completed check and serving decision.

Applicable temperature requirement

Actual check and unit

Ready decision or further preparation