The Family Library Week Map

Choose a purpose, make reading time, and return what you borrow.

Use local rules and actual interests to turn access into a useful routine.

Example: a family verifies its local card and lending arrangements, requests one read-aloud and one independent title, and chooses a short reading time. Both items stay in one place, with return checks assigned to an adult.

01 Name the week's reading purpose

Choose resources for the people who will use them.

Read-aloud or learning purpose

Reader's interests / suitable level

Household selection criteria

Question to ask the librarian

02 Verify local access

Use your own library's official information.

Official local catalog checked

Card / digital eligibility confirmed

Requested title / availability

Actual loan or renewal rules

The Family Library Week Map / Review & follow-through

03 Give the resources time

Borrow a manageable amount and plan its use.

First item to read or listen to

Family reading time / adult

Independent reading opportunity

Borrowed-item storage place

04 Complete the lending responsibility

Use actual dates and library procedures.

Return date / checking adult

Renewal or problem follow-up

Resource actually used this week

Next useful library request