Review Evidence and Purchase Question Sheet

Stars need a question and a source behind them.

A review is evidence to assess, not a product guarantee.

Hypothetical example: a household checks whether reviews concern the current shelf model, verifies its dimensions in the product documentation and holds one unresolved compatibility question.

01 Define the purchase question

Name the product and feature the household needs.

Exact product and version

Feature needed at home

Existing alternative and purchase limit

02 Read the review

Record the relevant review's date, author and context.

Review source and date

Reviewer experience actually described

Incentive or context shown

03 Verify the practical feature

Check the same feature in current official documentation.

Current official specification source

Measured fit or compatibility evidence

Conflict or missing fact

04 Make the decision

Decide the purchase or hold with an honest remaining question.
