The Parent Photo and Story Posting Check

A good memory does not require a public post.

Adults carry the responsibility for respectful sharing; a child's image is not automatically public material.

Example: a school celebration photo includes a name badge and another child. The parent keeps it in a private family album while reviewing the actual audience and permissions.

01 State the purpose

Decide what this sharing is meant to do.

Photo or story under consideration

Reason to share it

Smaller audience that meets the purpose

Reason to keep the moment private

02 Discuss the people involved

Ask about this image, wording and audience.

Child's wishes for this post

Audience explanation given

Other person's permission to confirm

Applicable event rule to check

03 Inspect the full post

Look at the caption and background.

Visible identifying details

Private story details to remove

Actual audience setting verified

Uncertainty requiring a pause

04 Record and revisit the choice

Respect later concerns without promising total erasure.

Share / revise / keep private decision

Adult action taken

Later objection or removal request

Habit to change before another post
