Shared Dish and Optional Condiment Agreement

Decide the shared base before adding the optional flavor.

Describe the dish as prepared and keep preferences courteous.

Hypothetical example: adults agree to follow the chosen main-dish recipe, place its optional topping separately, and tell the table which seasoning is already in the shared dish.

01 Name the decision

Identify the dish and the proposed flavor change.

Recipe and shared base

Proposed addition

People whose choice is affected

02 Check what can stay optional

Separate required method steps, preferences and suitability questions.

Required recipe ingredient or step

Genuinely optional serving choice

Ingredient suitability question to resolve

Shared Dish and Optional Condiment Agreement / Review & follow-through

03 Agree before cooking

Choose a practical arrangement the cook accepts.

Base dish agreed

Optional condiment and serving place

Cook accepting the arrangement

04 Describe and review

Tell diners what was made and note the next useful change.

Actual contents communicated

Person giving the serving information

Practical adjustment for a later meal