Shared Bedroom Use Agreement

Sharing a room does not erase personal space.

A room agreement should name places, transitions and an adult help route.

Hypothetical example: two siblings label personal drawers, agree where late reading happens, and ask a parent to resolve a light-rule problem.

01 Spaces and ownership

Walk through the real room together.

Personal storage for each child

Common area to keep usable

Belonging that requires permission

02 Light and sound

Write a routine the actual room can support.

Light transition

Where noisy activity moves

Adult responsible at bedtime

Shared Bedroom Use Agreement / Review & follow-through

03 Cleanup and help

Define completion and the route for a dispute.

Each child's cleanup job

Shared finish line

Words for asking adult help

04 One-evening review

Use the first trial to find missing instructions.

What was unclear

Change agreed by the adult
