The Confirmed Season Estimate

Separate confirmed costs from guesses before committing.

Sport belongs inside the household's wider responsibilities. Count the whole promise before deciding what the family can carry.

01 Record the full season

Enter category totals, not per-trip prices. In the source note, identify confirmed information or the assumption behind an estimate.

Item	Estimated total ($)	Actual cost so far ($)	Source / confirmed or estimated
Registration / fees
Equipment / uniform
Travel / fuel
Lodging
Meals away
Tournament / event fees
Training / camps
Other season costs

02 Compare with the household plan

Choose the reserve yourself. Available funds should respect essential responsibilities already in the household plan.

Reserve I choose ($)

Funds already available ($)

Months before payment

Maximum family commitment ($)

Record: Estimated costs $_____ Season plan $_____ Actual so far $_____

The Confirmed Season Estimate / Review & follow-through

Planning arithmetic: estimated total + reserve = season plan. Season plan - available funds = funding gap (minimum $0). For positive months, divide the gap by months to save. Compare the season plan with your maximum commitment.

03 Put boundaries on optional events

Use the official calendar and requirements. Record what still needs confirmation.

Required events / confirmed source

Optional events needing another discussion

Unconfirmed cost and person to ask

Time / transport duty we must cover

04 Make the commitment together

Update the other adult when a number or arrangement changes.

Decision and reason

Agreed optional-spending boundary

First action, owner, and deadline

Next cost / calendar review date